EXECUTIVE REPORT

EACH YEAR, as a member/owner of Valley Rural Electric Cooperative, you have the opportunity to take stock of your business. It is our privilege to provide you this report on the economic health of your co-op and to share with you the accomplishments of the past year. On behalf of the board of directors and employees at Valley, let us begin by saying we remain committed to our mission of providing reliable, efficient energy services and to improving the quality of life throughout the region.

To succeed in our mission, we must have financial stability. The return of $937,566 in patronage capital in 2012 to members and former members of the co-op demonstrates that firm foundation. Nearly $20 million in capital credits has been returned over the years and we expect the disbursement of capital credits to continue in the near term. Furthermore, the co-op continues to maintain a solid percentage of member equity as recommended in our equity management plan.

The co-op's largest outlay in 2012, as in all years, was to Allegheny Electric Cooperative for the purchase of the energy that runs our homes, farms and businesses. Governed by a board comprised of a member from each of the 13 electric co-ops in Pennsylvania and one in New Jersey, Allegheny negotiates to secure wholesale rates from a variety of sources. Allegheny owns 10 percent of the Susquehanna Steam Electric Station, a nuclear plant near Berwick, Pa., and has sole ownership of the hydro plant at Lake Raystown. Additionally, Allegheny has a long-term contract with the New York Power Authority for the purchase of electricity generated by hydro plants on the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers. These sources provide 70 percent of our energy. Allegheny purchases the rest on the open market.

Through payment of electric bills, Valley members and members of the other co-ops collectively shoulder the costs of Allegheny-owned generating facilities which produce our electricity. Higher generation costs coupled with flat sales during a mild winter last year led to the decision at the end of 2012 to institute an increase of $0.004 per kilowatt hour in the "Generation & Transmission" portion of Valley REC electric bills.

Other than the purchase of power (56.3 percent of our budget in 2012), the bulk of our revenue continues to go toward maintaining and upgrading our electric distribution system. Our total investment in upgrades to the utility plant and line extensions in 2012 totaled $6,674,006. Keeping trees trimmed along our 2,700 miles of line is a large portion of this expense. Last year, more than $1.81 million was spent to maintain about 610 miles of right of way. We adhere to a five-year rotation for vegetation management. This has proven to reduce costs associated with outage restoration. Even with this aggressive plan, Hurricane Sandy cost us $220,000 last fall, causing 112 separate outages and requiring replacement of 25 poles. Virtually all those outages were from downed limbs or trees. Those costs could have been much higher had we followed a less aggressive tree-trimming plan.

As part of our investment into the distribution system, we completed a major upgrade of six miles of distribution tie line between Williamsburg and Ore Hill substations. And we finished work on a major project in the Harrisonville area to upgrade our Route 30 substation and associated distribution circuits.

We have continued to use new technologies to enhance the quality of our service. Our new outage management system will speed service restoration by helping us more quickly pinpoint the scope and location of an outage. Having that information more quickly and accurately enables us to mount a more capable response.

Our meters are now fully automated, so members no longer have to submit readings. This automation reduces high bill complaints, labor costs and the chance for human error. We also offer the bill payment options you want most. Through an online bill presentment and payment service called E-Bill, you can sign up for electric service, access account history and pay electric bills. In addition, you can pay by credit or debit card by phone or in person at any of the four co-op offices.

Improvements completed in 2012 under our technology work plan included an upgrade to our communications network, installment of a new phone system and implementation of a new night dispatch system. We also finalized planning for a disaster recovery site that would facilitate the day-to-day operation of the headquarters in the event of a fire or other emergency at the corporate office.

We are two-thirds of the way through the process of replacing the old load control switches — which were not compatible with our automated metering system — with new demand response units (DRUs). This program is an important resource in controlling electric rates because it trims costly demand charges and reduces the need for new generating capacity. DRUs temporarily turn off electric water heaters during periods of peak demand but consumers shouldn't notice a change because the length of the activation periods can be adjusted around their lifestyles. We're happy to report that more than 3,400 members already participate in this program. We plan to expand this program by an additional 450 DRUs by the end of 2013.

Again this year we will be sponsoring students participating in the national Rural Electric Youth Tour to Washington, D.C. During this trip, students have an opportunity not only to go sightseeing but to learn the history of rural electrification and to meet with their representatives to discuss issues important to their district. We believe creating opportunities for our children to succeed, such as Youth Tour, builds communities. That's why we also offer up to 25 $1,000 Brighter Future scholarships to help local students further their education.

Thank you for your involvement in your co-op. Your attendance at your district nominating meetings and the annual meeting ensures that the cooperative principles are alive and at work in your co-op. Our commitment is to continue to work to keep your electric bills within your means while providing you with the best possible service. Thank you for allowing us to serve you.

JAMES R. STAUFFER, Chairman of the Board

WAYNE F. MILLER, President & CEO

VALUE-ADDED SERVICES

E-Bill options

Through an online bill presentment and payment service called E-Bill, co-op members may now sign up for electric service, access account history and pay electric bills online. Or they can have the amount of their monthly electric bill deducted automatically from a checking or savings account through the co-op's recurring payment program. To access E-Bill, visit www.valleyrec.com and click on "View & Pay Bill."

In addition, members may pay by credit or debit card by phone and at any co-op office location.

HomeEnergySuite™

Expertise at the touch of a button

Members can gain valuable insight to help manage their energy bills by using the cooperative's free, online, interactive home energy application. It features energy use calculators, a library of energy information plus a section for children. Access it by clicking on the "Save Energy" tab at www.valleyrec.com.

Valley Rural Electric employs a full-time energy specialist who is available to answer questions about energy use and who also performs in-home energy audits when necessary.

Education opportunities

Valley Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc.

brighter future

Scholarship Program

Valley REC awards up to 25 $1,000 scholarships each year to eligible students who apply for the Brighter Future Scholarship Program. This initiative is funded by unclaimed capital credits refunds that previously had to be turned over to the state treasury. Thanks to the efforts of the co-op's political advocates, these monies can now be kept in our local communities. The Pennsylvania Rural Electric Association offers two different scholarship programs as well. Visit the Scholarships page at www.valleyrec.com for more information.

Valley offers FREE presentations about electrical safety, energy conservation and environmental issues to schools and civic organizations.

Each year, Valley sponsors local high school juniors and seniors on the national Rural Electric Youth Tour in Washington, D.C. While on the fun-filled, all-expenses-paid trip, students tour national monuments and memorials, meet with members of Congress, visit the National Zoo and Smithsonian museums and more!

Energy Management

Cooperatives believe that the cleanest kilowatt-hour is the one that is never generated. Holding to this principle, Pennsylvania and New Jersey electric co-ops launched the Coordinated Load Management System in 1986. This demand response network, whose participants include nearly 25 percent of the cooperatives' residential consumers, currently boasts the capability to reduce about 8 to 10 percent of the entire cooperative system's peak load. Since the program's inception, this has resulted in power cost savings of more than $106 million statewide for cooperative members.

Members who agree to participate in this worthwhile efficiency program receive a one-time $25 credit on their electric bills.

Water Heater Rebate

A rebate of up to $3 per gallon is available to members who purchase a new electric water heater. The tank's energy factor must be 0.9 or higher and the member must agree to participate in demand response.
